

Travelling to Gibraltar.

Flying directly to Gibraltar Airport.

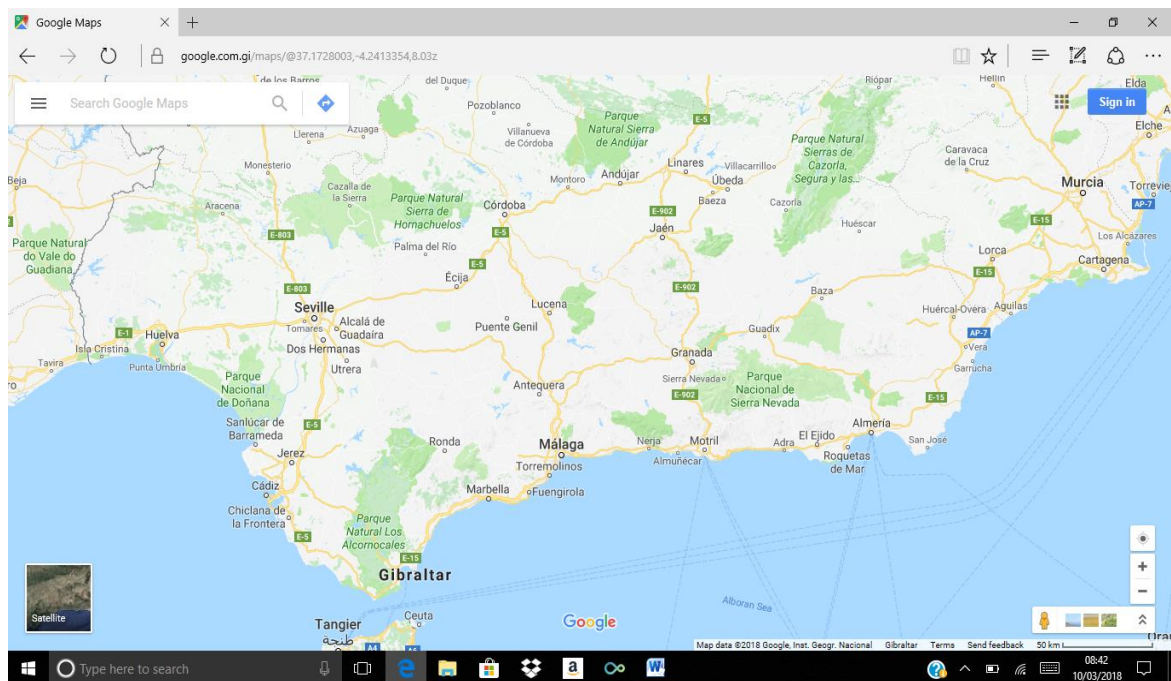

1. Gibraltar has its very own airport situated at Winston Churchill Avenue. Flight arrivals and departures are around midday, mid-afternoons and early evenings. Unfortunately the only destination is the UK. This means that in order to fly into Gibraltar you will require transit at either Gatwick or Heathrow. This could increase costs per flight and also add to the travelling time and if it requires an overstay even more. The advantage of travelling to Gibraltar directly is that once you arrive here, you have the border to Spain within 1 minute walking and there would not be a need to rent a car. Everything is close by and taxis are readily available 24/7.

Flying to Malaga.

2. Malaga airport is situated approximately 120 kms from Gibraltar and is in the Spanish mainland. There are many connecting flights and many destinations available making this airport a worthy consideration especially if you have a tight budget. Travelling down to Gibraltar will require either renting a car or coach if you come in numbers or by local bus. If you opt for a rent, the travelling time is about 1hr 15mins if you take the Toll motorway. Toll at this time of the year will be about 15 euros per vehicle each way. You can also use the public motorway at no cost and easy to follow however this will take slightly longer and traffic is considerable in September. If you opt for the bus you will require to have departure times etc. This will not be so comfortable. You must also bear in mind that if the hotel booked is in Gibraltar you will be required to drive into Gibraltar through the land frontier. You may do so with an ID document or passport. Please consider arriving to the frontier early as you may find yourself in some queue to enter Gibraltar. One important advice, there are con artists operating in the queue at the Spanish side who may request payment to enter Gibraltar. Do NOT give them anything, there is no payment required to enter Gibraltar.

Hotels

3. Despite approaching many local hotels in order to obtain discount for players we have been unsuccessful in achieving any sort of pay relief. The reality is that many hotels are of a high standard and will be very busy during this time of year. Gibraltar is very dependant of tourism and attracts large numbers throughout the calendar year. The first week of September falls within the initiation of the National festivities hence every hotel will be almost full. I am attaching details of the following local hotels –

The hotel isn't bad but it doesn't know who it's catering for. The restaurant is two rosettes so it's really expensive but the service is average at best. They add a 10% service charge across the board. Full review
